Subject: JLA Home: Possible Shipment Delays

Good morning,

We were notified late yesterday afternoon that both of our Savannah warehouses lost power at approximately 4:15 pm ET, due to strong thunderstorms in the area. Although this power loss was after our cutoff time, it was during our daily process of systematically closing trailers in our system. This may cause some issues with orders not showing shipped. Power was restored at around 8:30 pm ET and the process was resumed. We are fully operational again this morning.

Please note this power outage and its potential effects on shipped orders from July 10, 2025.

Thanks,

Kelly
